

Step 11: Validate results with stakeholders (national societies and partners)

Based on the data you collect above, we suggest you hold a validation workshop with stakeholder to share and validate the results, obtain their feedback, and plan next steps. The length of the workshop depends on your resources and the materials you wish to cover.

This discussion may be a good place to decide whether there is sufficient information, expertise, and capacity to develop a full EAP or whether a simplified EAP might be more appropriate given the forecasts, data, hazard-type or other capacities available at the time.
